MacLeod Ale Brewing Co. is a craft ale microbrewery, making traditional cask-conditioned British ale. Come and tour the brewery, have an ale and discover it’s history and challenges it encountered (with all the codes) in establishing their brewery. Find MacLeod tucked between an auto body shop and Gray’s Paint shop on the North side of Calvert. Look for the Green Bike rack. Parking is on the street.

Food will be provided by Lucy’s Mediterranean Café.

Cost: AIA members $25.00 cash/check and $26 credit card.
Non AIA members $30.00 cash/check and $32 credit card.

The Grand Critique Presentation was held on October 20 at the Woodbury University Campus in the Ahmanson Main Space, School of Architecture Building. Dean of the SoA Norman Millar, Assistant Dean Ingalill Wahlroos-Ritter, Marc Neveu PhD, Chair of the Architecture Department were also present during the festivities. The scholarship awards were presented to the three fifth year Grand Critique and the Portfolio Winners from the Grad and Undergrad Award students. Short presentations by each of the three Grand Critique winners were followed by a question and answer forum from the student and faculty audience.

This year the AIA/SFV awarded six—$500.00 scholarships and an additional two—$400.00 scholarships reserved for Grad Students finishing their Woodbury University Architectural studies. Members of the American Institute of Architecture, San Fernando Valley Chapter (which extends from Mulholland Hwy. to the North Los Angeles County Line and the Antelope Valley), have a mission to serve our profession and our community. To further our mission, the AIA/SFV has committed to recognize and encourage architectural students in our community and at Woodbury University.

We view the education process integrating both the value of design and problem solving and the encouragement of students and young professionals, to be an integral part of that mission. We believe that architectural students will, as the future stewards of our built environments, be called on by society to take leadership roles as visionaries for sustainable design providing environments accommodating social and cultural forces throughout the United States and as leaders in the world.

The AIA San Fernando Valley Chapter has established an independent Endowment Fund expressly to fund these named scholarships which were awarded consisting of $1,000 scholarships. We are accepting additional contributions from individuals, companies, design corporations and other sources to further the growth of the endowment program.

1. Architectural Student Selection Award—AIA/ San Fernando Valley FUND—Rudolph De Chellis, FAIA Scholarship Award—Maria Petrova

2. Highest Student G.P.A. Award—AIA/ San Fernando Valley FUND—George G. Terpatsi, AIA Memorial Scholarship Award—Sevana Alexander

3. Architectural Faculty Selection Award—AIA/ San Fernando Valley FUND—Joel Jaffe, AIA and Robin Jaffe, AIA Scholarship Award—Visnuvardhan Reddy Medapati

The awards for the Student Selection, Faculty Selection and Highest Grade Point Average were awarded through Woodbury University, Architectural Faculty and Students. The AIA/SFV Architectural Scholarship Awards were selected considering individual project portfolios submitted by the students. The Grad Students’ Past Presidents Leadership Awards were selected based on graduate level projects/thesis statements submitted with their application for scholarship consideration.
