The 2016 CBC will become the law of the land on January 1, 2017. This seminar will review the key provisions that have changed as well as brand new requirements such as electric vehicle charging stations. The pros and cons of early adoption of upcoming requirements will also be discussed. This seminar will also cover a review of “best practices” for accessible design under the provisions of Chapter 11B of the 2013 CBC.

The building standards codes establish “minimum” requirements. By going just a bit beyond these minimum set requirements, we can create better buildings that not only provide for greater accessibility but also reduce legal risks for building owners related to accessibility.

Increasing the VALUE of Your AIACC MEMBERSHIP

Special BIM Software Package for Members

The AIACC is pleased to announce a new Member Value program for BIM design software in response to feedback, particularly from small firms. We are pleased to be able to help provide access to powerful tools as options and/or alternatives – supporting full engagement in the business of architecture as a tangible and valuable benefit of AIACC membership.

Based on our research, increasing the range and options for software tools could potentially have a significant positive impact on your business – helping you overcome hurdles and improve the delivery of your architectural services in shaping high performing buildings and spaces.

Take advantage now of one of these special offers that we have arranged to be available exclusively to AIACC members!

WHO'S ELIGIBLE?

All AIACC members including those considering moving from another platform and those interested in exploring options to resources they may already have in hand.

BENEFITS

- Special value pricing
- Perpetual software license
- Upgrade bundle
- Enhanced training and a supportive group model to provide camaraderie and networking with others who are also 'new' adopters of the software

ACT NOW! This offer is only available until December 31, 2016.

Join your colleagues for AIACC interactive webinars that explore these VALUE opportunities:

- Program overview
- Information about the software platform
- Insight from members who have recently adopted the software platform: benefits, challenges, opportunities

Public Voting Now Open for 2nd Annual I Look Up Film Challenge

WHAT: The American Institute of Architects (AIA) invited filmmakers and architects to team-up to create a short film showing architecture as a solution. With more than double the number of films submitted in 2015, the public is encouraged to select their favorite film as part of the People's Choice Award. Though a jury of architects and filmmakers is reviewing submissions for select prizes, the People's Choice Award is an opportunity to showcase the film that most resonates with the public. Visit http://ilookup.org/filmchallenge/ to access the films:

1. Watch the films
2. Vote for your favorite film
3. Share it with your friends on social media

WHEN: Public voting for the People's Choice Award is open now through October 3rd.

The winner of the People's Choice Award will receive:

- $2,500 cash prize
- A screening of their film at the Architecture & Design Film Festival in Washington, DC
- Two round-trip tickets to the festival in Washington, DC
